The War Today...

is written today by John Evans

KING VITTORIO EMANUELE'S hold on his war-torn throne seems to be strengthened by the very shocks that might be expected to unsettle him.

This is because the Allied world now asks "who is Italy?" Not long ago Mussolini was Italy. Not today General Eisenhower tacitly recognizes the King as the one to accept "honorable conditions of peace."

At first thought it would seem that rumors of riots and insistent popular cries for "peace" might shake the throne and start a revolution.

It still seems to some that the King and Badoglio are touched with the tar of Fascism because they tolerated it, recognized it and worked with it. On the other side are these facts:

1—The King accepted Mussolini and Fascism because he couldn't help himself. He tried the wily Premier Giolitti and others in short-lived governments in vain effort to save off a revolution. He finally gave in to Mussolini and summoned him as premier, as the King said, to avert civil war. Badoglio at that time assured the King that the army could defeat the Fascists marching on Rome, but the King took the costly easy way out.

However, once Mussolini was in, the King had to decide either to abdicate and leave everything to the Fascists or to hang on as best he could, biding his time. He bided. Now Mussolini is out and the King is in.

2—Rioting and all the demands for peace may seem to shake the throne, but instead they increase the importance to the Allies of having in Italy a real head, respected by the people, supported by the Italian army, thoroughly in touch with conditions, and knowing the political complexities of all those speedy converts to democracy who will be trying to raise themselves to power by their bootstraps.

Events suddenly should force out the King, Badoglio also would go and Italy would be a country in chaos without leadership, easy prey for the Germans and other kinds of trouble.

With the King is his old and trusted friend, Badoglio, long reputed an excellent soldier by military men of other countries. Badoglio is no miracle man but he knows his people, he always has had their respect, and his reputation is but the greater for his break with Mussolini over the invasion of Greece. The combination of the King and Badoglio sounds like a more workable one and a more solid one than any others at this time.

3—One of the strongest factors in all this mess is the spiritual one. Pope Pius XII may or may not be active in trying for peace but he must certainly pray for the end of war, especially in his own country. Upon him, as devout Catholics, the King and Badoglio can rely for peace and comfort in any proper search for peace. To Italians, it is comforting that the King and Badoglio are at peace with the church and that the Pope is their friend. Such a state of affairs also has its importance with the Allies.

Rationing Boards Adopt 'No Riders--No Gas' Slogan

The district Office of Price Administration announced today ration board in 19 northeastern Ohio counties had been instructed to deny automatic renewals of B and C gasoline ration books to drivers whose cars do not carry a full load of riders.

L. R. Cox, district OPA tire conservation officer at Cleveland, said the "no riders-no gas" rule applied to all B and C ration books. Agency certified that a ride-sharing arrangement was not possible.

"We have directed the boards to be strict because we feel that many people have failed to take the share-the-ride program seriously," Cox said, "and because we know that many persons who obtained supplemental rations in lieu of alternative means of travel are using alternative means and consuming their gas for pleasure."

NAZI RESERVES FAIL AT OREL

Germans Bring In Reinforcements In Attempt To Halt Russians

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, July 30.—German forces fighting desperately to hold Orel at all costs brought in fresh units from France and Germany yesterday but failed to check the crushing Soviet drive, the Russians announced today.

When knee-deep mud and driving rain threatened for a time to slow their massive tanks and infantry, the red army turned to a cavalry charge to throw the Germans from the city. The Soviet front line dispatches said, Nazi forces giving under the weight of the charge were reported to have left 600 dead and large quantities of arms behind.

A Soviet communique said upwards of 3,000 Germans were killed at Orel's approaches and gains up to six miles were registered as 40 additional villages were occupied yesterday.

Half a German regiment of 1,500 to 1,800 men were wiped out in another Orel battle when Nazi infantry supported by 30 tanks struck back at the advancing red columns, the communique said, and added that 10 of the attacking tanks were burned out or disabled.

(A Berlin broadcast admitted the German defenders of Orel were on the defensive all day Wednesday, but said that Russian attempts to break through the city's inner defenses were repulsed, it said 188 Russian tanks were destroyed, 100 of them north of the city.)

In the Belorod area 165 miles to the south, the Soviet war bulletin said red army forces went on the offensive again and drove the Germans from a village.

The Wednesday toll on all fronts was 38 enemy tanks and 63 planes, according to the bulletin.

MILK PRICES UP ONE HALF CENT

The regional Office of Price Administration today granted a half-cent increase in the retail price of milk per quart, raising it from 14¢ to 15¢, in all Mahoning county and parts of Columbiana, Portage and Trumbull counties.

Dr. Edward C. Welsh, regional OPA price executive, said the increase was allowed to prevent diversion of fluid milk from Youngstown and Warren areas.

When milk price adjustments first were announced last January, it was decided Youngstown and Warren should have a half-cent lower differential than Pittsburgh and the retail price was set at 14¢, a cent a quart for the Ohio cities, Welsh said.

However, the Pittsburgh price was set at 15¢, cents and it was feared this difference might divert milk from the eastern Ohio areas to Pittsburgh markets, threatening the supply for the public in Youngstown and Warren and for an Army depot obtaining its milk from Ohio.

The increase, effective at once, will not cause a diversion of milk to the Ohio cities, Welsh declared. Affected by the boost in addition to Mahoning county are Deerfield and Palmyra townships in Portage county; Butler, Center, Elk Run, Fairfield, Franklin, Hanover, Knox, Madison, Middletown, Salem, Perry, Unity, Washington, Wayne and West townships in Columbiana county, and Boggs, Braceville, Brookfield, Champion, Fowler, Hartford, Howland, Hubbard, Liberty, Lordstown, Newton, Southington, Vienna, Warren and Weatherfield townships in Trumbull county.

STRUGGLE IN ITALY TAKES GRAVER TURN

Mutiny Reported Among Troops at Milan; No Asylum for Dictators

BY ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Italian troops were reported to have mutinied at Milan today for the first time in Italy's bitter crisis over war or peace, and as the internal struggle took a graver turn, President Roosevelt again voiced willingness to treat for an end to hostilities.

Simultaneously, Mr. Roosevelt issued a virtual ultimatum to neutral nations not to offer asylum to leaders of the Axis powers.

Commenting on rumors that "Mussolini and members of his Fascist gang may attempt to take refuge in neutral territory," the chief executive declared formally:

"The government of the United States would regard the action by a neutral government in affording asylum to Axis leaders as inconsistent with the principles for which the United Nations are fighting."

...The United States government hopes that no neutral government will permit its territory to be used as a place of refuge or otherwise assist such persons in any effort to escape their just deserts."

Mr. Roosevelt said that when the time comes he was willing to treat for peace with a King, prime minister or even a mayor of a city—so long as he is not a member of the Fascist party.

British Cabinet Meets

As the Italian crisis mounted, Prime Minister Churchill held two sudden meetings of the British cabinet at No. 10 Downing street, amid signs of a major turn in developments.

Dispatches from Switzerland said Italian troops at Milan had openly refused to obey orders to fire on civilians who swept through the streets by the thousands shouting demands for peace.

Crowds defied warnings that they would be shot for parading. Marshal Badoglio was reported to have ousted the Milan military commander, General Canale, and ordered Gen. Vittorio Ruggero, chief of an Alpini division, to take over the riotous industrial area.

At the same time, Transocean, the German propaganda agency, reported all members of the outlawed Fascist grand council except one had been arrested. Council members included ex-Premier Mussolini and his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano.

No immediate announcement was forthcoming on the British cabinet meeting which lasted two hours.

Straws in the wind, however, indicated that the Italian answer to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's five-point terms for an end to hostilities may have been "No." This was suggested by the fact that after a virtual lull of several days, Allied warplanes renewed the bombing of southern Italy.

Nazis And Italians Clash When Germans Seize Subs

MADRID, July 30.—New fighting between German and Italian troops in northern Italy and establishment by the Germans of a guard over five Italian submarines they found at Fiume were reported in messages to Madrid today.

Nazi crews were said to be enroute to take over the submarines for use against any Allied landings on the Dalmatian coast.

A methodical Nazi military occupation of the Istrian peninsula and the whole Udine region from the gulf of Trieste to the Austrian border was outlined in advices direct from Rome.

The lack of reaction by the Rome radio to the Nazi movement into Fiume, Trieste and other Italian ports yesterday was reported due to the German argument that so long as Italy remains in the war it was merely peaceful cooperation "between Allies."

Balkan reports received at this neutral capital said dalmatian guerrillas in Italy's service, adversely regarding the Nazi occupation of the land bridge atop the Adriatic, had opened negotiations with Italian divisions in northern Dalmatia to leave their arms with them upon withdrawal.

HAMBURG HIT AGAIN BY RAF

Aerial Assaults Seen As Test of Possible Destruction from Air

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, July 30.—RAF bombers dropped more than 2,000 tons of explosives on Hamburg last night, it was announced today, giving that great North German port its seventh pounding since Saturday night.

The air ministry said the attack was made "in very great strength" and that the delivery of explosives was accomplished despite increased ground defenses and numerous German fighters.

Twenty-eight bombers were reported missing. A half dozen enemy planes were destroyed on this and other raids, the Air ministry said.

The massive attack stirred speculation that Hamburg was being made the subject of an allied experiment to determine whether a city that large could be paralyzed completely from the air.

Results achieved in the persistent day and night bombing of Germany's second largest city and submarine nest were viewed as likely to determine the pattern of the air war for the next few months.

Berlin May Be Next

In this connection it was noted that lengthening nights would bring Berlin itself within the range of heavy day and night bombings by October or November.

Hamburg with her million inhabitants has been scarred by five British night and two American daylight raids since Saturday, and flames and smoke from the stricken city have served as beacons for each successive raid.

American medium bombers swept out at daybreak today to continue the round-the-clock aerial attacks on Germany and occupied territory by blasting at the German airbase at Woesndrecht in Holland this morning.

Swift British Mosquito planes hit at night while RAF fighters strafed airfields and railways at Merville, Coulommiers, Mantes and Forges in France, and Schleswig-Jagel in Germany.

267 Charter Members Of P.-T. A. Enrolled

The Salem Parent-Teachers association, organized during the summer, now has 267 charter members on its roster, it was reported at a meeting of the P.-T. A. council and officers of the five school groups last night at the Memorial building.

Relly school leads the list with 67 parents and teachers. Fourth street school reported 66 members. Plans were made for a general public meeting to be held before the opening of school, Sept. 9.

GERMANS FACE TRAP UNLESS THEY RETREAT

Whirlwind American Attack Drives Enemy Back Twenty Miles

(By Associated Press)
By DANIEL DE LUCE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 30.—American and Canadian troops have driven deeper into the central and right flanks of the Germans' warring Mt. Etna line, Allied headquarters announced today, as the Nazis strove desperately to repair the breach.

A communique declared the Canarians had "advanced further against strong opposition," and the U. S. Army front from the north coast inland to captured Nicosia was "advanced in several places."

The whirlwind American assault had driven the Germans back about 20 miles in two days and threatened to trap the Nazis around Catania or force a general retreat toward Messina.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.'s Seventh army was advancing toward the strategic prize of Nicosia and exploiting the break-through made in temporary Nazi positions.

Canadians who captured Agira to the southeast, central pivot of the Mt. Etna line, were menacing Regalbuto, six miles to the east, and facing another bitter struggle.

Messina Port Bombed

Allied air power struck repeatedly in heavy new blows to shatter port facilities at Messina and Milazzo in Sicily and ranged over Italy to blast airports near Rome and Naples.

Allied torpedo aircraft sank a merchant ship and left two naval vessels afire as they intercepted Axis attempts to reinforce their hard-pressed forces.

One enemy plane was destroyed and four Allied planes failed to return from the wide sweeps.

U. S. Flying Fortresses rained explosives on the Viterbo air base and American Mediums struck at the Aquino field near Naples.

(The Italian high command communique, broadcast from Rome and recorded by The Associated Press, said Sicilian defense troops were "still heavily engaged by renewed violent enemy attacks."

Reuters translated a Rome transmission as saying the Axis forces were "being tried sorely and without respite" by the Allied offensive.

(The Italian bulletin said enemy raids over some localities of Lazio and Campania caused small losses and a twin-engine plane was shot down over Naples.)

Enemy Sub Shoots Down Navy Blimp

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 30.—A Navy blimp was lost at sea recently, the Navy reported today, after being damaged in an extraordinary fight with a surfaced enemy submarine. It was the first airship ever reported so destroyed.

Only one man of the crew, which ordinarily numbers seven enlisted men and four officer-pilots, was lost.

What eventually happened to the submarine the Navy did not say, although if American craft were close enough to rescue the men from the airship they probably were close enough to attack the submarine.

The casualty was identified as Isadore Stessel, aviation machinist's mate second class, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

OIL CITY DISTRICT SWEEP BY STORM

OIL CITY, Pa., July 30.—Damage estimated "in the thousands of dollars" was counted today as the aftermath of a near-tornadoic windstorm which ripped a thousand-foot path through this community late yesterday.

The storm, coming up without warning, twisted and smashed buildings, homes, automobiles, trees, and power lines but left no deaths. Only two persons were reported slightly injured.

Many did not see the storm strike. One person who did said "it was like a giant freight train coming along. It was blacker than coal."

OWI'S NECK

The state department seems to be in for more of the same backseat driving that has complicated its negotiations with France as it prepares to perform its job in Italy.

Evidently, there is going to be a repetition of the pulling and hauling between De Gaulle and the Grandists. President Roosevelt, in his press conference Tuesday, felt obliged to make a public rebuke to OWI for a broadcast in which slighting references were made to the king of Italy and Marshal Badoglio, heads of the provisional government set up to succeed Mussolini's dictatorship. The inference of the broadcast was that this government should not deal with the Savoy-Badoglio regime.

The popular inference from the incident is that someone in the government—someone close to OWI—tried to assume the duties of the state department. There is no way of knowing what the department's plans for negotiating with Italy may be, but it must be assumed that there is a plan and that the department knows what it is doing. That is the only possible way to carry on this important function of the government. The people reserve the right to judge foreign policy, but they cannot expect to formulate it. Those who have been trying to formulate it from their soap boxes and cafe tables are beginning to be bored with their insistence that they must be allowed to choose spokesmen for foreign government. When they begin to pop up inside the government, itself, things are at the showdown point. OWI has stuck to its already battered neck—all the way to here. His countrymen trust Mr. Roosevelt will not fail to step on it.

ORGANIZED CONFUSION

If, as critics charge, Washington is the capital of organized confusion, it is living up to its reputation in the new tax law. By the time the Democrats and bureaucrats were finished with the relatively simple procedure incorporating the famous "Rum plan," the result was a law that not even the tax experts pretend to understand.

Thanks to the incredible organization of confusion, the new tax law is going to require multiple returns from millions of taxpayers. This flood of forms will necessitate hiring thousands of new bureaucrats to think up more things to fill up more forms. What was proposed as a way to simplify the tax collection job has turned out to be the most complicated procedure in history, not because it was intended to be that way but because the opposition to the Rum plan in congress and the United States treasury deliberately made it that way to satisfy their requirements for a tax law—requirements based in some cases on nothing but a conviction that taxation's first purpose is to satisfy grudges.

Despite confusion, the new tax law still is the only feasible way to collect income taxes from upward of 44,000,000 persons. In all probability when the 44,000,000 have had one year's experience with the law a lot of the confusion will be eliminated, by request. Some of the organizers of confusion may be eliminated, too.

NEW SMEAR WORD

Vice President Wallace's use of the phrase "American Fascists" to denote anyone who disagrees with President Roosevelt's domestic policies is the tipoff on the campaign line for 1944.

Most favored smear word recently has been "isolationist," but it is limp and pallid from overwork. Besides, it has no usefulness in the field where the next presidential campaign is going to be decided—domestic policy.

An "American Fascist," as defined by Mr. Wallace, is a person trying to persuade a majority of his countrymen that certain reforms should be reexamined in the light of current developments. It follows, of course, that some of the "Fascists" the vice president hopes to smear in this way are to be found in the party which elected him.

His position is absurd and indefensible. The New Deal has used a lot of smear words, but until now no spokesman for the government has had the bad taste to call his fellow countrymen "Fascists." He may suspect them privately of resembling members of that well defined group, but they suspect him privately of resemblances they do not refer to in their public remarks. Self-government in the United States calls for a certain amount of restraint, particularly on the part of the vice president.

THE WAR AND BABIES

COLUMBUS, July 30.—A plea for Ohio to withdraw its rejection of a federal program to finance maternity care of servicemen's wives was addressed today to Gov. John W. Bricker by Rep. Frances P. Bolton, Cleveland Republican.

Mrs. Bolton said she telegraphed the governor from Cleveland that "wives and babies are in real need of this help," and recalled she had aided in obtaining congressional enactment of legislation setting up the plan now operating in most states.

"I trust that whatever misunderstanding may exist, will be promptly done away with so that Ohio may participate in this very adequate and necessary federal aid program," Mrs. Bolton said.

Governor Bricker at a recent press conference said he was in accord with Health Director R. H. Markwith, who rejected the federal plan after the Ohio State Medical association's council disapproved it.

Dr. Richard A. Bolt, director of Cleveland's Child Health association, said, meanwhile, he had been told by U. S. Senator Harold H. Burton, another Cleveland Republican, the program was "an aid which enlisted men and their families need badly."

Dr. Bolt asserted Dr. Markwith declined to put the program into effect "on the advice of a limited group of reactionaries in the medical profession, who feared the federal subsidy was an approach to socialized medicine."

Here is a producer who brought some of his corn grown for roasting ears to market and was offered only 20 cents the dozen for it. The retail price in the markets was from 45 cents to 49 cents the dozen—and the producer took his corn back home with him. The ultimate consumer is the "goat" in such instances.

WAR EXPENDITURES PER WEEK PER CAPITA

FOR each and every day of the fiscal year which started July 1, the United States is spending and will spend $265,000,000 to prosecute the war. This astronomical figure means that every man, woman and child would contribute the sum of $14 per week were we conducting the war on a pay-as-you-go basis. At this rate the share of the war cost for a family of four would be $56 per week. But if the head of the family earns $60 per week Uncle Sam takes only $5.80 out of his weekly pay envelope. Which explains why the national debt is piling up. The chart shows how war expenditures have increased since 1941. (International)

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Nutritional Deficiency Causes Gingivitis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
GINGIVITIS is an inflammation of the gums and soft tissues surrounding the teeth. To anyone who has sore gums, they seem to be entirely due to local trouble.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Yet in nothing is it so true that a local disease may be due either to causes that are strictly local or due to some general body disturbance. The gingival tissue is a most sensitive indicator of the general condition of the body.

It is a fairly true statement that inflammation, redness, soreness and sponginess of the gums may be a forerunner of pyorrhea. But it is not 100 per cent true, and many teeth have been sacrificed to the idea that this form of prevention is the best cure, when a general survey of body conditions would lead to indications for treatment which would stop the process and hold off the pyorrhea indefinitely.

Local Causes

Of local causes the most frequent is the deposit of tartar and calcium in the mouth, and the culprit here is all too often tobacco. Of course, the real cause of deposit of calcium is in the saliva and the precipitation is due to bacteria and food particles in the mouth. The treatment is, no matter how sore the gums are or how much they bleed, to toughen them up with the stimulator or a hard bristle tooth brush, getting well into the interdental spaces and the gum margin.

Of the general causes of gingivitis a disturbance of general health, such as untreated diabetes, is a possibility. Allergy may cause herpetic eruptions of the gums, and soreness. So may many endocrine disturbances, and the use of pituitary hormones, estrogens and so forth has helped many a case.

General nutritional deficiency is a potent cause, and careful attention to good eating habits a primary necessity. I agree with Dr. Yeretsky, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, that instead of saying just "Eat more vitamins," the sufferer threatened with gingivitis should have a definite dietary program.

Daily Dietary Program

Daily, one-half pint orange, tomato or grapefruit juice.

Twice a day, protein in the form of meat, eggs, fish or cheese. Four or five eggs a week.

Twice daily, one portion of one of the following vegetables: spinach, cabbage, watercress, Swiss chard, Brussels sprouts, turnip greens, cauliflower, kale.

Once daily, one of the following vegetables: Carrots, beets, peas, corn, string beans, onions, squash, cucumber, persimmons, turnips, rutabaga, artichokes, asparagus.

Bread, potatoes, noodles, macaroni, cereals, one at each meal, with fortified bread or whole-grain cereal at two of these meals.

In addition, one pint of milk every day.

Fifteen drops of cod-liver oil daily. Any amount of fruit.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

D. D.: Will you kindly tell why a person who has a stroke never gets back to normal? Is there no cure for the rigid feeling in the arms and legs?

Answer: Many persons who have had a stroke make partial or nearly complete recovery. If a nerve cell, however, is destroyed, it—unlike any other cell in the body—does not regenerate and if such destruction occurs there will be no improvement. The use of massage, hot baths at a temperature of 95 degrees F., and underwater exercises in water at that temperature help overcome the rigidity.

CHARGE PRESIDENT BLOCKS PLANNING

Congress Says Wet Blanket Thrown On Declaration Efforts

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 30.—President Roosevelt may have tossed a wet blanket over the fire some senators are attempting to build under Congress to force attention on a declaration of post-war intentions.

That was the interpretation placed today in some quarters on a paragraph of the President's Wednesday night radio address in which he said the United Nations are engaged in an international discussion of all the terms of peace and all the details of the future.

The President said the United Nations were substantially agreed on the general objectives for the post-war world and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he looked upon this statement as expressing indirect presidential disapproval of a resolution offered by Senators Ball (R-Minn.), Burton (R-Ohio), Hatch (D-N.M.) and Hill (D-Ala.).

This quartet now is engaged in a widespread speaking tour, along with some house members, in an effort to stir up public interest in the proposal calling for the United States to take the initiative in formally organizing a setup to safeguard the peace.

Taft told an interviewer he thought the President had indicated opposition to the Ball resolution, which would establish "machinery for peaceful settlement of disputes and disagreements between nations."

"I take it the President not only would disapprove passage of the resolution at this time but would oppose debate in the senate on any proposal of this kind," Taft said.

"If that is true, I'm willing to agree with him on that point but I don't believe the same objection could be raised to individual debate to help crystallize public sentiment."

Supporters already have served notice they will seek action on the resolution shortly after Congress returns from a summer recess.

Prisoners Certain Of Axis Victory

(By International News Service)

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—"When German prisoners started coming to internment camps in Canada three years ago, they were certain they would be released within a week or two by victorious Nazi comrades," according to Col. Hubert Stetham, military training director of internment operations for Canada, interviewed in Memphis.

"Today they are just as confident of ultimate victory as they were then," he said. "Their minds are warped, twisted. They believe only what they think they should believe. Confronted with news in Canadian papers about Axis losses they shrug and say it is propaganda. They think they are supermen and cannot be beaten by people who are weak enough to betray kindness and pity for prisoners."

Education Is Blamed

Col. Stetham blamed German education, which obscured even the most obvious reasoning in matters pertaining to Germany and the German people, for their condition of mind.

Prisoners equipped with only nail files and small scissors, he said, fashioned such things as saw teeth, which they tempered without the use of chemicals; candles made of kitchen fats that would burn with a clean, even light; and a life-sized model of a human head.

Possession of the head proved a captured officer's plans to escape had come to nothing, according to the colonel. The prisoner had completed the effigy with closed eyes, eyebrows and eyelashes and had fashioned a companion piece, a half curled hand, to lie on the covers and thus fool guards watching his bed at night.

Stetham revealed that only one of thousands of Axis prisoners in Canadian camps had escaped permanently. He was the officer captured in this country before Pearl Harbor, who jumped bail put up by the German embassy.

Bazooka, New Weapon Plays 'Music' Army Likes

(By Associated Press)

WITH U.S. ARMY SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND—The "Bazooka"—the new Army weapon that looks like a piece of doll-up rain-suit suitable for kids to play soldier with—is often called one of the Army's best morale-boosting weapons.

Almost every soldier who has fired the rocket gun that has demonstrated extraordinary arm-piercing ability (the exact capabilities are secret) has felt himself a match for any German tank.

The Bazooka, just a tube for projecting a TNT-charged rocket which explodes on contact with the target, costs about $8 to manufacture and its ability to inflict damage is comparable to a 37mm. anti-tank rifle that costs in the neighborhood of $1,750.

The most famous Western Ocean packet of the early 1800's, the 1,413-ton "Dreadnaught," held the record of 13 days, 8 hours between New York and Liverpool. Her skipper, Capt. Samuel Samuels, never once "lay to" in a storm.

Railroads in the first year of World War II handled in special trains and special cars alone 11,600,000 troops and their equipment, or more than four times as many as carried in the first year of World War I.

HITLER'S NEWEST PROBLEM

TURBULENT and unpredictable conditions in Italy, brought on by the ousting of Mussolini, pose a number of vital problems to the German High Command. In the forefront is whether or not to pour enough troops into the Po Valley in Northern Italy to hold the vital airfields around Milan, Venice and Turin should Italy collapse. Nobody seems to know whether the reported recall of Italy's divisions (numbered) to the homeland is for the defense of the country or final capitulation. The removal of these occupation troops will cause Hitler to draw on his fast-dwindling reserves to replace them. Should he fall back behind the Brenner Pass, the Allies will be able to fan their planes out over France, Germany and the Balkans. (International)

Claims Airpower Can Defeat Germany Within Six Months

BY ROBERT L. FREY
United Press Correspondent

NEW YORK—At a cost in manpower probably less than that suffered by the Allies in North Africa, American and British airpower could bring Germany to her knees, within four to six months, Francis Vivian Drake, aviation writer, said today.

Drake, who began flying in 1912, served with the RAF in the last war and, after being wounded, became an instructor of American fighter pilots. He has set forth his theories of the economy and efficiency of concentrated bombing in a book titled "Vertical Warfare."

Using as a base the statistics of successes and losses experienced thus far by the Allied air forces, Drake projects these figures against the equipment now available to draw the "air plan" which he believes would defeat Germany and later, Japan, in the least possible time and with a minimum of casualties.

Drake computes a maximum of 4,000 at the peak of the campaign as the number of bombers required to demoralize Germany. These, he contends, could be made available without withdrawing planes necessary to maintain other fronts. He estimates our losses, if the Nazis held up under the attack for the full six months, would be between two and three thousand bombers and twenty to thirty thousand men.

Enough Planes Available
"Of course," he said, "an enormous mass of bombers might end the war in Europe in a month, but limiting ourselves to what we have available we now have the means to prepare Germany for an economical march of occupation by our Army within at least six months."

His plan would entail doubling, tripling if possible, the Allies' greatest rate of sustained attack to date and maintaining the battering of Germany's industries so that an area once knocked out would not be able to rebuild.

Drake said that destruction of 40 per cent of Germany's industry is believed sufficient to defeat her. Taking the experience of the RAF in 1942, Drake recalled, they destroyed about 7 per cent of German economy with 37,000 tons of bombs. "40 per cent destruction would imply the unloading of about six times that tonnage, or around 220,000 tons."

This enormous tonnage might not be necessary inasmuch as German morale would be very likely to crack before the 40 per cent destruction was achieved, Drake pointed out.

Must Prevent Rebuilding

Drake estimated that in all Allied bombers so far have destroyed 15 to 20 per cent of Germany's industrial machine, but said an unknown amount of it has been rebuilt and put back into operation. He stresses the importance of concentrating air attacks to prevent repair work and restoration of facilities once destroyed.

Based on comparative losses so far, Drake forecasts that in the first two months of the stepped-up bombing operation he envisages, our heavily-armed bombers could be expected to account for about 1,200 enemy fighters, "which exceed the total number of German fighters now in Western Europe. We would have the Luftwaffe over a barrel."

He emphasized the low cost in casualties of a victory achieved through the air. If the experience of land armies in the first world war is to be repeated this time, he said, it points to a United States casualty list of two to three million men—"eighty or one hundred times greater than the expectancy involved in a sustained attack by air."

He paid tribute to the bomber crews "on whom the brunt of the closing phases of the war must fall as in past wars it has fallen on the infantry. Notwithstanding, it is the air plan of ending the war that they favor unreservedly and they are eager and impatient to get on with the job."

"Global Alphabet" Is Invention of Former U. S. Solon

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Using 41 novel symbols and holding 16 others in reserve, former U. S. Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma has developed a "global alphabet" he thinks capable of breaking down the world's language barriers.

"Through it I can teach any reasonably intelligent man Chinese in two months," he enthused. "It is a means by which we can teach the English language to all the world at high speed and negligible cost. It will pay its own way."

Although at first glance Owen's alphabet appears to resemble some shorthand systems, he said it is entirely different. His is based on 18 vowel sounds, 18 consonants and five double consonants—"ch," "sh," "th," "ng" and "wh." The 41 regular letters are little hooks and wiggles and slashes and curves. In case it develops that Tibetan or Urdu or some other tongue contains sounds not capable of expression by the 41, Owen has 16 orthographic substitutes warming the bench. In general, they are angular or triangular in form.

Scotfs at Handicap

Owen at 87 is blind—a handicap he scoffs at.

"I just dictated them to my secretary, by metes and bounds," he explained. "In my mind, I would picture a square, and describe to her how the character should fit into its limits."

"Metes and bounds" is a surveyor's term, used to describe the outlines of an enclosure.

A former Indian agent for the five civilized tribes in Oklahoma, Owen was inspired by Chief Sequoyia, who in 1823 invented an 85-character alphabet which enabled his Cherokee tribesmen to learn in two or three weeks to write their own language.

As for English, a few simple waggles of the pen and there was: "I saw Esau kiss Miss Kate. The fact is we all three saw, I saw Esau, he saw me, and she saw I saw Esau."

Owen said his shorter, phonetic word forms would save paper, ink and postage, that spelling no longer would be a problem and that "the use of this system with its defined pronunciation would have a tendency to end or limit brogues and dialects."

But in announcing that the copyrighted system would be "my free gift to the world," the former senator stressed this:

"The global alphabet comprises a mechanical agency through which to make effective the dreams of the great men now leading the people of the United Nations in a struggle for peace, abundance, goodwill, justice and happiness. The four freedoms, the Atlantic charter, the twentieth century economic policy adopted by the London Chamber of Commerce could be quickly put before the world."

Theatre

Tonight and Saturday the story of "Five Graves to Cairo" will show at the State theater with Franchot Tone and Anne Baxter in the leading roles. Tone, as a British general, disguises himself as a French waiter to obtain the information on where the Nazi ammunition dumps are placed. Anne Baxter, portrays the French chambermaid who aids him.

"Wings Over The Pacific" will be at the Grand tonight and Friday. In the story, an aerial dogfight over the island results in the landing of two of the contending flyers, and a miniature war is finally climaxed with the invasion by a Japanese air contingent. Inez Cooper and Edward Norris have the romantic leads. Also showing is "The Avenging Rider" with Tim Holt.

WASHINGTON, July 30 — The War Food administration announced today an allocation of edible fats and vegetable oils under which civilians would get about 5 pounds or 10 per cent less on a per capita basis during the 12-month-period ending next June 30 than they consumed in 1942.

Included in the allocation were butter, lard, shortening, and margarine. All are rationed. The food agency said the per capita supply of these foods was expected to be about 44 pounds.

Says Glider Flight Heralds Post-War "Flying Freights"

By ANTHONY G. De LORENZO
United Press Staff Correspondent
DETROIT, July 31 — Don't be surprised if you see freight flying in the air as well as moving along railroad tracks after the war.

A revolutionary postwar era of speedy and inexpensive transportation may spring from the recent successful use of the glider as a trans-oceanic freight carrier.

Giant cargo planes, towing a handful of gliders loaded with dozens of products, including food, flowers and machines, probably will criss-cross the country at speeds which a few years ago transportation experts said were impossible.

Towing of a freight-loaded glider across the Atlantic ocean early in July fulfills the prediction made repeatedly for more than a decade by Col. Edward S. Evans, Detroit industrialist and father of gliding in the United States.

Freight Dropped En Route
The Atlantic crossing was no surprise to Evans. He said the flight, completed in 28 hours, "merely marks the forerunner of what we may expect in the future on an even larger scale." The development to come, he added, should have a beneficial effect on the postwar economy.

Evans who circumnavigated the globe in 1926 to demonstrate the practicability of the commercial transport plane, long has envisioned the day of "flying freight trains" winging across the country at speeds of 100 to 200 miles an hour, "switching off" cargoes as they reach their destination.

"The tractor or tug airplane need not stop when the train reaches a community for which some of the freight is earmarked," Evans explained. "All the glider pilot has to do is cut himself loose from the rest of the train, make his landing, discharge his cargo and reload. Some time later he can be picked up again by the tow plane."

Those who estimate the cargo-carrying capacities of postwar airplanes on the basis of present ships are headed for a rude awakening, according to Evans. Present planes weighing 32,000 pounds and carrying 8,000 pounds of pay-load, he said, will be replaced by mammoth cargo ships weighing 75,000 to 190,000 pounds, or even more.

With the addition of trailer planes and properly-designed tow planes, the industrialist added, operating costs again can be lowered to the point where air transportation may challenge the railroads for the right to carry first-class freight.

Can Carry More Pay-Load
"It is important to remember," Evans explained, "that gliders can carry more pay-load than cargo planes of the same size, since gliders are not encumbered with weight of engines, fuel, oil, gas tanks, engine mountings and heavy structural units. This would permit approximately 63 per cent of a glider's weight to consist of pay-load. Obviously the same ratio could not apply to a power plane."

A 200,000-pound tow plane, for example, would carry probably 40 per cent of its gross weight, or 80,000 pounds, in pay-load. With assisted take-off, Evans said, this plane could tow a glider or gliders equal to its own weight. The gliders, however, would carry 70 per cent minimum of pay-load.

Evans believes that with use of gliders freight can be hauled by air at "little more" than the cost of present charges for first-class freight.

The future of towed gliders, he said, "depends to a large degree" upon what use the Army can make of the craft during the war. He indicated the Atlantic crossing by the towed glider may be the forerunner for even more spectacular developments.

Corn is now used in manufacturing cloth for soldiers' uniforms.

ALLIES PUSH BACK NAZI MT. ETNA LINE

Germans Face Trap Unless
They Retreat; Americans
Advance 20 Miles

Blockbuster attacks were mounted Wednesday night against Capocchio, near Naples, and Monte Corvino. Allied crews reported rolling blankets of smoke covered all these targets.

Enters Final Stages

Airdrome facilities of Viterbo, 50 miles northeast of Rome, were shattered by precision bombing of the Fortresses, which encountered
no enemy fighters and only a small targate from ground batteries, officers said.

The battle of Sicily appeared to have entered its final phases as American forces stormed through a breach in the German right flank
and threatened either to trap the Nazi defenders of Catania or force
a general Axis retreat toward Messina.

The Americans' success yesterday
in taking Nicosia at the base of the Axis triangle, and the victory of their Canadian Allies at Agrig
about 12 miles to the southeast,
were termed the most important strategical developments of the past week.

The twin break-throughs placed the Americans within 50 miles of Taormina, on the east coast about 28 miles north of Catania, where the British eighth army has been fought to a virtual standstill by powerful German armored forces.

The Canadians' advance through Agrig placed them within 20 miles of Catania and threatened that port from the west.

May Fall Into Trap

Thus the German defenders of that important city must fall back up the coast or be trapped on the north by the Americans, on the west by the Canadians and to the south by the British.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's
weary but battle-wise Americans
outmaneuvered and outflanked crack
German troops recently reinforced with fresh reserves in their 12-
mile overnight push to capture Nicosia.

In taking Agrig, the Canadians attacked frontally and cracked the 15th German armored division after bitter fighting eliminating in a bayonet charge against Nazi machine gun positions.

Seizure of the two towns blasted
the Germans' hopes that they could die in alone the base of the triangle and force the Allied invaders into a prolonged campaign of trench warfare.

Nicosia's fall also threatened the collapse of the northern Axis flank
at Stefano Di Camastro on the Tyrrhenian sea.

Fire watching duty for women between the ages of 20 and 45 is compulsory in Britain for those working less than 55 hours a week.

Take Initiative In Post-War Planning, Is Taft's Advice

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 30—Congress had an invitation today from one of its Republican members, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, to seize the leadership in post-war
planning by doing away with programs he charged would extend the New Deal "in its most dangerous
aspects."

In a defense of the independent attitude he said lawmakers had displayed toward the administration in this session, Taft charged that attempts were under way to "smear
congress."

Denying that "a few healthy differences on policy at home do any harm to the war effort," The Ohioan said Congress was at the cross roads where it faces "another
New Deal program for the post war period, extending the New Deal in its most dangerous aspects."

Taft also criticized President
Roosevelt for not consulting members of Congress who disagree with him on domestic questions, and added:

"I believe all well informed men
will say that it (lack of cooperation)
lies on the President's side."

Rev. Thompson Succeeds Dr. Meister at Norwalk

CLEVELAND, July 30.—Appointment of Karl Meister, superintendent of the Norwalk district of the Methodist church, as superintendent of St. Luke's hospital at Cedar Rapids, Ia., was reported today by Dr. Earl R. Brown, Cleveland district superintendent.

Dr. Brown said Dr. Herbert J.
Thompson, pastor of Epworth
Methodist church at Youngstown,
would succeed Dr. Meister as superintendent of the Norwalk district
under appointment by Bishop Lester Smith. Other appointments include:

Rev. Clare Davis, pastor of the Barnesville, O., Methodist church, assigned as pastor of Parkwood
Asbury church, East Cleveland.
Rev. Russell Phillips of Northwood, Ia., assigned pastor of the Barnesville church.

Rural Transportation Problems Are Stressed

COLUMBUS, July 30.—Joseph W.
Fichter, master of the Ohio State grange, believes representatives of farm organizations should be given an opportunity to present rural transportation problems before a decision is reached on proposals to reduce gasoline rations in the midwest.

In a letter to Petroleum Administrator Harold Ickes, Fichter said
he thought such a reduction would be "a serious handicap to farmers in this election who do not have public transportation facilities
available to . . . people who, live in the more thickly populated sections."

He suggested the farm element be given an opportunity to present its case before any extension in gasoline rationing is ordered.

At the height of the Tunisian campaign, Maj. Gen. Jimmy Doo-little's 12th Army Air Force used up 1,100,000 gallons of high-octane gasoline a day. The monthly ration for all Atlantic Seaboard automobiles is 14,950,000 gallons.

Sudden Downpour Floods Pittsburgh Area

Torrential rains, record-breaking with more than three inches of downfall in a single hour, flooding the Pittsburgh area, left scenes such as the one pictured here in Carnegie, Pa. The sudden deluge disrupted all traffic, flooded many homes, and kept thousands of war-workers from their jobs. (International Soundphoto).

300 War Workers Stricken At Erie

(By Associated Press)
ERIE, Pa., July 30.—A full mobilization of doctors and nurses
ordered in this western Pennsylvania city today to care for more than 300 war workers stricken with what City Health Officers James R. Smith said he believed was food poisoning.
One hundred sixteen persons, five
of them reported seriously ill, were taken to hospitals which already were crowded. Others were removed to private homes.
Police Chief George J. Cristoph
said the victims apparently all were employed at the Erie works of the General Electric Co. and that all
had eaten luncheon in the plant cafeteria yesterday. The meal, he said, consisted of corned beef, string beans, mashed potatoes and coffee.

Widow Who Took Over Husband's Job May Quit

EAST LIVERPOOL, July 30.—Mrs.
Hilda Hall, appointed city treasurer
July 2 after the death in June of her husband, Clyde V. Hall, has requested an organized committee to abandon a write-in vote for her Republican nomination for city
treasurer at the Aug. 10 primaries.
Ill health was given as cause of the request.

Mrs. Hall may give up the post
she has occupied before the term
expires Dec. 31, leaving Bert A.
Dawson, High school teacher, unopposed for the GOP ticket place.

DEMOBILIZATION PLANS OUTLINED

General Objectives of Post-War Readjustment Listed by President

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 30.—President Roosevelt released today, with his approval as to its general objectives, a report on demobilization
and readjustment in the post-war period, which proposed among other things that service men be given
three months' furlough at base pay,
but not to exceed $100 a month,
plus family allowances.

The report was drafted by a conference which Mr. Roosevelt established on post-war readjustment of civilian and military personnel and was made through the new defunct
National Resources Planning board.
The report gave strong emphasis to the need for rapid conversion
of industry to a peace time basis,
while providing full employment.
And it recognized that the bulk of employment should be supplied by private industry, with industry and the government each helping in its proper sphere.

The conference proposed a central administrative agency be set up to handle the post-war demobiliza-tion program.

Details Explained
The committee's recommendations
followed in a general manner the six-point program for servicemen
which the President outlined in his address Wednesday, but it went into greater detail.

The text of the committee's six-
point program:

"1. Three months furlough at regular base pay not to exceed $100
a month, plus family allowances.

"2. Beyond that time, if necessary, unemployment insurance for 26 weeks for those who register with the United States employment service.

"3. Special aid and counsel regarding readjustment and rehabilitation.

"4. Special provision, including tuition and allowances, for those who wish to pick up the broken
threads of their education or follow
some special course of training.

"5. Veterans' credit for old age and survivors insurance on the basis of service in the armed forces.

"6. Opportunities for agricultural employment and settlement to be provided for a limited number of qualified servicemen. But in general, agriculture should not be looked upon as a dumping ground
for the industrial unemployed, since
the problem is broader than that of agriculture alone."

WAVES CELEBRATE FIRST ANNIVERSARY

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 30.—The WAVES have cause for celebration
today.
Only a year old, already their organization has grown three times
larger than was planned, and demands for its services are so great that now the Navy aims to triple
the present enrollment by the end of 1944.

In a congratulatory message,
President Roosevelt said that "in their first year, the WAVES have proved that they are capable of accepting the highest responsibility in the service of their country. On behalf of a grateful nation, I offer birthday congratulations and a hearty 'well done.'"

The WAVES now number 27,000,
and yesterday the Navy announced
its intentions to swell their numbers to 91,000 by the end of next year.

he is there he hasn't thrown himself.
Even if he should appear it would take him some time to unify the people behind him. At present, the King and Badoglio seem the leaders of Italy, able to keep reasonable promises.

Also, the great machinery of a country needs to run. Throw out overnight a million little tax collectors, clerks of courts, policemen,
mayors and so forth and there would be virtual anarchy for a time. Angot the Allied military government installed in Sicily and intended for other liberated territory, acts at the top, giving order
and supervising execution but the rank and file of little public officials perform their duties as usual.
Some of them merely take off their black shirts and put on dirty white ones, but all of them probably are relieved to have the next upper crust of Fascists off their necks. It would be nice if all these little fellows had perfectly white souls, but it will take time for Italians to hold elections and even then not all the elected will have wings big enough
to carry them to heaven.

Traffic Deaths Cut In Half Since War

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 30.—The United Nations cut its traffic death toll
during the first six months of 1943
to almost of its pre-war figure,
the National Safety council reported today.

The half-year drop was 41 per cent from the corresponding period
in 1941 and 32 per cent from that in 1942. This year's traffic deaths through June totaled 10,030, compared with 17,028 in the first half of 1941 and 14,690 in the first half of 1942.

War-time restrictions on speed
and mileage were credited for most of the good showing, but public cooperation also played a major role,
the council asserted.

A total of 337 cities of 10,000
or more population whose figures
were available showed an average fatality reduction of 19 per cent as compared with the first half of 1942
indicating the largest reduction is continuing to come from rural areas, the council said.

CHAPTER TWENTY

An hour and fifty minutes later, when minutes less than he'd ever made it before, he nosed his car into the drive at Myles. Johnson was at his side as he swung to the ground.

"She's still here," he announced triumphantly.

"Good. What's she been doing?" Johnson grinned. "What ain't she been doing? She's been in and out of everything. There wasn't anything she didn't want to know about, and when I was slow in answering she reminded me that she owned the place. She sure seems to care about something—Here she comes now. By golly, if she ain't been over the meadows!"

Christopher walked across the lawn toward the padlock gate to meet her halfway. Rowdy raced forward to investigate a stranger and then recognized a friend. She yowled and barked in joyous welcome, while a frown gathered on Ann Rivers' brow. He grinned, knowing that there was nothing so irritating as one's dog's enthusiasm for someone else.

"Here, Rowdy! Come back here!" The command brought the dog to her side, but Rowdy kept looking back at Christopher as if to say, "What's the idea? The last time the three of us were together we had lots of fun, fights and everything." Christopher laughed. "I feel as if I ought to apologize because the pup likes me. There's nothing you can do about it, really." He held out his hand. "How are you, anyway? I was beginning to despair of ever finding you again."

She ignored the outstretched hand. "That makes us even, because I've been in despair ever since I arrived."

"Despair about what? Isn't everything all right?"

"It's too all right, which is another way of saying that it's all wrong. That's why I waited. We've got to settle things."

"Well, let's go in the house where we can talk comfortably," he suggested. "You look as if you could stand a cup of hot tea or something."

"I don't want a cup of hot tea or something, and if I look that way, it would be more tactful of you if you didn't mention it. Besides, what I've got to say can be said right here. But first, I have a few apologies to make before I get really mad."

"You? What have you got to apologize about?"

"I don't like snoopers, and I was a snooper," she informed him bluntly.

He smiled. "That's nothing; some of our best people are snoopers."

"Not the way I snooped. First I pumped your kennel man and Johnson. I even pumped Mrs. Johnson. Then I called up Paul Freund—he wasn't there, he was on his way over here, incidentally—and while I was phoning in the library, I looked at the letter paper on your desk. A lawyer with an office in Wall Street—Tiffany stationary—Harvard, that was your year-book on the shelf—played football—handsome man in your class—also the greatest heart-breaker."

He fussed like a boy. "Say, listen, don't hold that against me; that was just kid stuff."

"And then your sailboat," she continued relentlessly. "The Calypso. The little brass plates on the model told me its name. And there was a picture of that," she pointed toward the car, "taken as it left the shops with its hundred thousand horse-power."

"Four hundred and twenty-five," he corrected.

"Yes, and you let me think it was just a second-hand old rattletap," she swept on in mounting fury. "The best you could scrape together."

"That's true," he injected mildly. "It was the best I could scrape together."

She stamped her foot. "Oh, I'm boiling all over again at the way you made a fool of me!"

"Now look here," he protested. "That's unfair, you know. You jumped to your own conclusions."

"But you knew perfectly well that I thought you were just another edition of Paul Freund—a poor devil trying to make a precarious living out of raising Great Danes. Otherwise, do you think I'd have let you have this place at fifty dollars a month? Why, I've been robbed!"

He burst out laughing, and she had to laugh, too. Then she pulled herself up sharply. For it was an awkward situation. She should not have glanced at the letter that had lain open on his desk. She hadn't told him about that part of her snooping, because she'd been ashamed; but a glance (or two, or three) informed her that his wife was in love with him, and that she had planned to lunch with him at the Colony that day. The words, written in young, forceful hand, seared into her memory. "I'm looking forward to it, Sweet, as if I'd never been married to you, and I've something important to discuss with you, about the sweepstakes. Don't let anything come up to disappoint me."

"Brenda!" Ann couldn't help wondering whether Johnson's telephone call had interfered. It must have, for Christopher had arrived too early to have accomplished the slow ritual of a Colony luncheon.

"Sorry, darling," he'd probably told Brenda. "The dame that owns the place just blew in at Myles. I'll have to dash up and smooth her down." Where did Brenda fit into this farm scheme, anyway? She didn't seem to have much say in his decisions, one way or another; but she apparently was as much interested in the dogs as he was—one of those undomestic, horsey women, very likely; a little blowsy, but attractive to certain types of men. Christopher Wain might well be that type of man. Indeed it was more than probable that he had bought Mad Anthony for her. Yes, from all circumstantial evidence, Brenda and Christopher Wain were an idyllic couple, with that easy attentiveness that would make them lovers to the rest of the world. These thoughts had raced through Ann's mind with the velocity of incidents in a dream.

After seconds of mutual laughter, she declared, "I'm not jesting," and added in a curt voice, "This whole arrangement is most unbusiness-like."

"I know that," he admitted soberly. "What I've spent on the place hardly makes up for the rental I ought to be paying."

"Don't be absurd. What I mean is, you have no lease. I could put you out tomorrow, don't you realize that?"

"I realize it. But do you want to?"

She stamped her foot again. "Of course I do. But in all decency, I can't. You practically own the place. Look here," she broke off.

"Are you listening to me?"

"No, I was watching Rowdy. Say, that pup's improved, do you know it?"

"Why shouldn't I know it?"

"She's almost as big as Gretel."

"It must hurt you to own up to it." She heard the note of pettiness in her voice and she didn't like it. Her head was throbbing, and her chest had tightened anew in a spasm of pain.

She saw him look at her questioningly. "It's getting raw. Let's get indoors," he urged.

She shook her head. "I'm going home. Here, Rowdy!"

"I'll drive you into town."

"You'll do nothing of the sort." She stalked ahead of him. He caught up with her in two long strides. She felt his hand on her arm. "You're being unreasonable," he chided her. "It isn't as if I didn't love the place; it isn't as if I'd desecrated anything—Or have I?" He stood still in dismay. "I say, have I done things to it that you don't like? Is that it?"

"Oh, how wrong you are." Gratitude welled up in her. "You've done a beautiful job! I'll never be able to thank you for what you've done. The meadows especially. When I saw the lime-spreader and the sacks of super-phosphates in the barn, it made me want to get down on my knees—"

"Hey there—"

"I know. I'm silly about those meadows. I think that freshly ploughed land is—"

"Exactly." She felt choked, all at once, with a choking that had nothing to do with the tightness in her chest. Not since her father's death had she spoken this language of the land. It brought back all the enduring hopes that had gone into its making. She felt a sudden emptiness in realizing that she was no longer part of it. A new person had come to take over, but it was good that the way of his living and the quality of his being were no violation of its spirit.

"You're going to let me know where you live, aren't you?" he asked her.

"Why not? You must have thought me very childish in trying to elude you."

"I thought that something must have hurt you," he said gently. "I wish I knew what it was."

She could think of no answer to give him. She couldn't say, "I'm hurt because you're married and haven't said so." If she told him that, he'd know the rest of it. He'd know that she was trying, with all the strength that she possessed, to keep from falling in love with him. "Here comes your kennel man," she said instead, as she saw the stocky figure approach.

Kansas Farmers, City Cousins
Complete Vital Wheat Harvest

 By GORDON BROWN
 TOPEKA, Kas., July 30—No medals or flags will be awarded for the job, but Kansas farmers, with some help from their city cousins, have completed a pretty big war contract—harvest of a vital 150,000,000-bushel wheat crop.

A few months ago the problem seemed almost insurmountable. The young farmers and farm workers had gone to war or defense jobs, there was no transient harvest labor in sight and there was almost no new farm machinery to replace worn out combines and tractors.

But today, the big crop has been harvested and most of it is now in storage—food for a warring nation. That $200,000,000 crop, nearly a fourth of the country's total, lacked 5,000,000 bushels of equating last year's but it's still a big crop.

Last year the big problem was where to put the grain. Elevators were jammed and farmers stored grain in empty houses, garages, the chicken house—anywhere there was space. This year, with much of the wheat moved out for war uses, the only storage problem was at shipping points where the box car shortage delayed movement of grain to terminal elevators.

Farmers Cooperated
 The big job, of course, was overcoming the labor shortage. No one story can tell all the details but chiefly it was through application of the old-fashioned principle of utilizing what was available. Plus plenty of sweat.

Mostly it was the farmers themselves. They worked harder and longer, coupled machines together so one man could do the work of two, pooled machinery, traded labor, and worked harder and longer.

But they had the help of hundreds of women—mostly farm women and girls—who mended tractors, combined trucks, pitchforks and scoop shovels. School boys gave up summer swimming and fishing to help. And lots of townies stepped in to lend a hand during vacations and off hours.

For instance: Rolla Hogg, farmer living east of Delphos, had no farm help. But his 15-year-old daughter, Gladys, drove the tractor. Hogg tended the combine and Mrs. Hogg hauled the wheat in the truck. Barbara, 14, took over the housework and Darrell, 11, did the milking and relieved his father of other chores.

Just before harvest started, Hubert Caspar, living west of Junction City, broke a leg. But he was taken to the field each day and directed the work of a 17-year-old novice who did the combining. Mrs. Caspar hauled the grain from the 150-acre field.

Members of Junction City civic clubs volunteered to devote their evenings to the harvest. In one evening, an American Legion crew shocked 50 acres of oats on the E. C. Erickson farm east of Junction City.

Biscuits Lure Farmhands

(By United Press)
 MONTEZUMA, Kas.—Mrs. Charles L. Anderson came to Montezuma seeking harvest hands, for her farm, and some store bread.

She could find neither, but finally in desperation tried at a restaurant for the bread. They had none to spare.

"Guess I'll have to go home and bake biscuits and have chicken and gravy," she said.

Three harvest hands, eating at the counter, arose as one man. "We'll go with you," they volunteered.

CAMP BLANDING, Fla.—It takes nine miles of tape to provide one Army division with "dog tags" or identification markers and the paper used in a month at this camp in issuing orders would cover six acres of ground.

Surgery Restores Wounded At Pacific Navy Hospital

By FRANCIS MCCARTHY
United Press Staff Correspondent
ADVANCED U. S. NAVAL BASE, SOUTH PACIFIC—Front-line victims of Japanese bullets on Guadalcanal, whose injuries were such as to necessitate amputation of one limb or another, are being returned to civilian life as continued useful citizens through the skill of orthopedic surgeons attached to
U. S. naval base hospital No. 2.

The work of the orthopedic surgeon here, according to Comdr.
Henry Howard Kessler (MC), US
NR, of Newark, N. J., head of this department, is motivated by two considerations: (a) The military necessity of keeping as many men
at as many guns as many days as possible and, (b) The social and vocational rehabilitation of the injured.

"The orthopedic surgeon in a war zone is thus faced," in the words of Commander Kessler, "by a challenge to his sound judgment,
technical skill and social imagination." Commander Kessler, for more than 20 years connected with the New Jersey Rehabilitation Commission, is one of the country's foremost orthopedic surgeons. His previous practice, prior to his induction into active service in the U. S. Naval Reserve in 1941, was rehabilitation and reconstruction surgery.

His colleagues in orthopedic surgery on the staff of U. S. Naval Hospital No. 2, located "somewhere in the South Pacific war zone," include Lt. Comdr. Charles B. Bey-mer (MC), USNR, of Twin Falls,
Ida.; Lt. Marvin C. Becker (MC),
USNR, of New York City, and Lt.
Manley B. Shaw (MC), USNR, of Wahpeton, N. D.

"Use 'Trueta Method'"
In the last war, according to Dr.
Kessler, compound fractures caused by gunshot wounds produced a high degree of mortality and permanent crippling. A large number required amputation and a larger percentage developed chronic bone infection requiring repeated operations,
prolonged hospitalization and permanent invalidity.

In the management of the compound fractures received at U. S.
naval hospital No. 2, however, employment with slight modifications
of the classic "Trueta method," extensively used in the Spanish civil war and in the European theater,
has been singularly successful, Dr.
Kessler reports.

Editor's Note: The so-called Trueta method of treating compound fractures, or open-wound fractures, consists basically of cleansing the wound and inserting sulfa drugs and packing, followed by the application of a plaster of Paris cast to place the injured part
at rest.

In less than 24 per cent of the gunshot wounds of all types received was amputation, in one form or another, required, the majority for irreparable injury to the main blood vessels, rapidly spreading gas
gangrene or extensive loss or destruction of tissue.

In one case, Dr. Kessler recalls, because of the critical condition of the patient, amputation of the leg
was performed in bed under refrigeration anesthesia. A tourniquet was applied to the leg, ice packed around the leg from the toes up to the tourniquet and the leg severed without any supplementary anesthetic.

Plasma Saves Lives
Chest wounds have represented
approximately 18.8 per cent of the total admitted war casualties at this naval hospital. Wounds of the perforating type (in which the continuity of the chest wall has been disrupted) represented 5.4 per cent of the total admitted war casualties, and 28.8 per cent of all chest wounds.

Mortality rate in this (perforat-

ing) category of chest wound approximated but 7.5 per cent.
Treatment of the pleural and pulmonary complications of the perforating chest wounds has been conservative throughout. All necessary supportive measures were used, such as continuance of sulfa
drugs, vitamins, blood transfusions
and plasma where indicated.
"These latter two measures have been invaluable in saving lives, and in reducing the time required for convalescence," according to Comdr.
Alphonse McMahon (MC), USNR,
of St. Louis, Mo., and Comdr. Harry R. Huston (MC), USNR, of Dayton, O. Commanders McMahon and Huston have been particularly active in the direction of the medical and surgical, respectively, treatment of this particular type of war injury. Both were prominent in their professional fields of endeavor
while engaged in civilian practice.
Commander McMahon, organizer
of the St. Louis medical specialist unit of the naval reserve, was assigned as internist of the unit. He was ordered to active duty overseas
early in 1942. Commander Huston has the following hospital appointments awaiting him, when he reports for duty: senior surgeon and chief of staff, Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, O.; attending surgeon, U. S. Veterans' Administration Facilities, also in Dayton, and postgraduate work in surgery at the Mayo, Crile and Labeys clinics.

"Roger"—Aviation's New Word for 'O. K.'

(By United Press)
LAGUARDIA FIELD, New York
—If you say "all right" or "o. k.," instead of "Roger," you are out of step with the entire aviation industry in this country and Great Britain.

Capt. Ray Wells, chief pilot for the trans-Atlantic division of Transcontinental and Western, says
there is common sense behind
"Roger."

"Roger," as used in the current air communications code, means 'I have received all of your last transmission,' he explains.
"It was first employed in the Navy years ago to identify the letter 'R' in the days when static made radio reception uncertain. Communications men would say 'R for Roger' when spelling out a difficult
word over the radio just as civilians
talking over a telephone, might say
'S for Sam' or whatever pops into their heads."

"Roger" was used after language
and phonetic experts found it excellent for transmission purposes
and less likely to be distorted by adverse reception conditions.

"The next step was to 'promote'
the word.
"Now a pilot hearing 'Roger'
through his headphones knows his last radio message to his operational base has been received satisfactorily."

Wells says today our Navy, Army,
the Federal Communications Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Commission and the British forces
all officially use "Roger."
Air-minded youngsters and aviators off-duty have been the greatest spreaders of the expression and you might as well get used to hearing it. It'll probably be around for quite a while.

Broadway Night Clubs Short Of Everything But Business

BY CLAYTON J. IRWIN
AP Features Writer

NEW YORK — So you want to open a night club and scoop up a few thousand of those war dollars
with no place to go?

It looks easy. Manhattan's night club belt is jammed these dimmed-out evenings. Service men in town for a fling and civilians with the war earnings they can't spend on autos and other peace-time conveniences have given the entertainment business the biggest upbeat
since the slap-happy, prohibition
days of the mid-twenties.

Revenues are tremendous. An establishment accommodating 100
persons probably will take in up to $1,000 a night for the combined dinner and supper shows. That's something over $300,000 a year,
which can be multiplied four or five times in considering the gate receipts of the 500-chair establishments.

Big Money, Big Headaches

Big money, sure, and easy money
too, say the owners—if you don't object to a fat headache for every ten-spot that goes fluttering into the cash register.

Let's take up the case history of the Folies Bergere, one of Broadway's newest bistros and a good example because it was built from the ground up, rather than installed in the setting of a former night club.

The Folies Bergere became a gleam in the eyes of its producers, Clifford C. Fischer, who operated the old International Casino, and Arthur Leser, in June, 1942. Both are veterans in the field, and ordinarily could have brought the show

to the presentation stage in two months.

Long Wait For Workers

The cost, within reasonable limits, was no object. First, Leser
and Fischer needed carpenters,
plumbers and electricians, but so did the war industries. Night club jobs could wait, and this one did,
for months.

Dealers in second hand restaurants and hotel equipment provided
some of the dining room, kitchen and bar fixtures. From theatrical warehouses came pre-war cloth for many of the costumes and some of the interior decorations. One costume called for a number of jeweled spheres—ordinarily a common item but not available now. They solved this by cementing dozens of rhinestones on table tennis balls.

Putting the revue together was another problem. The shortage of men in show business has existed
since before Pearl Harbor; now,
because of the demands of camp
shows as well as war industries,
there is an additional shortage of show girls.

Food Shortage Problems

Food and liquor scarcities presented a real job from the start.

"In pre-war days," Leser says,
"There was a parade of salesmen
through my office. Now, if we're lucky enough to be visited by one
we rush him down to a comfortable
chair, load him down with cigars,
inquire about the wife and children
—and then he says: 'Now, brother,
I'll tell you how much stuff I'm going to let you have.'"
Finally, perhaps as vital as any

It's the Humidity, Not the Heat

FORT KNOX, Ky.—Do you think
the brief cool spell this summer
made it harder to stand the renewed heat? If so, you're just imagining things, say the scientists of the Armed Force medical research laboratory.

Actual experiments with men
in the laboratory "hot box," with temperature and humidity closely controlled, show that the human body becomes accustomed to extreme heat in a comparatively short time and remains acclimatized for weeks.

The man who means that "it isn't the heat, it's the humidity" is half right. It takes longer to become acclimatized to moist (jungle) heat than to dry (desert) heat and the degree of success never is as great.

Yet, the research men found it possible, in a period of a week to 10 days, to acclimatize soldiers
at heavy labor to a temperature of 91 to 92 degrees with a humidity of 95 to 96 per cent. With dry heat, the soldier can do heavy work at 120 degrees and become inured to the heat in a shorter time. Once acclimatized, the men tested could return to a cold climate for at least two weeks without losing ability to stand the heat.

The earliest known reptiles on earth had huge bellies and skimpy legs.

Soothe and cool diaper rash, relieve

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Somebody
who wanted to get rid of a dog, but didn't want to see the dog injured,
left the animal tied to a tree near Fort Worth, with this sign nailed to the tree: "Please do not turn
the pup loose unless you want it,
on account of cars running over it."

Bliss Wins First, Second Round Class A Championships

City Softball Aggregation Has Won 15 Games, Lost 1; Third Round Opens Tonight

The City Champion Bliss nine copped the second round Class A softball crown last night by defeating the Salem Chinas, 4 to 1.

The Blissmen, also first round winners, boast 15 victories this season, having lost only one game early in the summer. Much credit goes to their pitcher-catcher combination of Dale Ritchie and Ralph Moffett.

Tonight brings the opening of the third round of play in the city loop, with Scotts playing Strains and the Gold Bars facing the Electric Furnace nine.

While Bliss was winning over the Potters last night, the Bombers nosed out the Recreations 2 to 1 by scoring in the last of the seventh.

Class B engagements saw the Slovaiks bow to the Twin Beauties, 16 to 11, and Sheens drub Paxsons, 12 to 5, a reverse of the usual procedure.

Yandy, In Old Form, Strikes Out 13 Men

CINCINNATI, July 30.—It looked like old times out there at the ball park last night, with Johnny Vandy, Meier walking nine men and hitting a tenth, but striking out 14 to win his game.

That was the story of his 1938 season, when he had his two no hits.

The Boston Braves were the modern victims and the score was 4 to 3. The game, a play off of last night's postponed Army-Navy Relief go, netted the service funds about $26,000.

It seemed that Vandy got the ball over the plate only by accident, but when he did the Boston batters needed micrometers for bats.

Just to add the proper touch, Vandy got all three of the Braves' ninth-inning hopefuls, each going down swinging.

Johnny only had two hurtful innings, the first and the eighth. In the first two walks and a single made a run, and in the eighth Phil Masi, pinch-hitting for Manny Salvo, singled two more in. Two singles and only one walk preceded this.

Red Barrett and Nate Andrews for the Braves and Elmer Riddle and Ray Starr for the Reds are the pitchers for today's double-header.

CLEVELAND, July 30.—Aaron L. Andrews resigned as Penn college basketball coach to enter midshipmen's training school at Columbia university.

Men In Naval Base Hospital In Pacific Get Best Of Care

By FRANCIS MCCARTHY, United Press Correspondent
ADVANCED U. S. NAVAL BASE, SOUTH PACIFIC—Allied fighting men in the South Pacific war zone are getting only the best of medical and surgical care at U. S. Naval Base Hospital No. 2, where outstanding specialists from all corners of the United States work with the finest and most modern equipment in surroundings of primitive tropical beauty.

A gross mortality rate of 0.32 per cent in the past 12 months speaks silent volumes for the skill of the hospital's personnel, which comprises 45 medical officers, 50 nurses, 261 hospital corpsmen and a total maintenance and commissary crew of 81. Surgical mortality on combat wounds has approximated 1.4 per cent. Medical deaths represent but 0.035 of all admissions.

These percentages become the more impressive when it is considered that the hospital serves, in addition to U. S. armed forces and civilian components thereof, British and Australian army, navy and police forces, and their families; Free French forces, and, as well, the civilian population of the island, the native Melanesian and Polynesian people, and the plantation owners whose lands we now occupy.

U. S. Naval Base Hospital No. 2 was actually commissioned some six months after the arrival of the medical unit last May, but patients had been admitted to several ward huts long before. When first war casualties began to arrive by ambulance plane from the Solomons' battle-front, everything was in readiness for them.

Distinguished Staff Heads
During the period preceding actual commission of the hospital, patients—Army, Navy and Marine Corps—were cared for at a small French hospital in a small administration building and in three large private dwellings "commandeered" for the purpose. These provided a total of 300 beds and between 300 and 400 patients were cared for in this manner in the period between arrival of the medical unit and actual commissioning of their hospital.

These "interim patients" received excellent care despite the crudeness of their surroundings. The general picture has changed for much the better since then, however, and the finest modern equipment is now in use by highly-skilled Men of Medicine.

Heading the top-flight staff at the hospital, many of whom were teachers in medical colleges back home, is short, stocky and affable Capt. John E. Porter (MC), U. S.

to the staff of No. 2, including, for example, Comdr. William H. Leake (MC) USNR, of Beverly Hills, Cal.; Henry H. Kessler (MC) USNR, of Newark, N. J.; and Alphonse McMahon (MC) USNR, of St. Louis, Mo. All are widely known in their respective fields, in civilian as well as military medical circles.

Commander Kessler, attached to the orthopedic service, was medical director from 1929 to 1941, when he entered active naval service, of the New Jersey Rehabilitation Commission. He was assistant medical director from 1920 to 1929. He is author of two widely-used medical textbooks, "Accidental Injuries" and "Rehabilitation of the Crippled and Disabled." He was Hunterian Lecturer at London in 1935 and has represented the United States at numerous medical gatherings abroad.

Commander Leake, who is ward medical officer in SOQ (Sick Officers' Quarters) is a specialist in internal medicine. His numerous professional affiliations include membership in the American College of Physicians and the American Heart Association. His hospital staff memberships include the

Los Angeles County Hospital, where he was attending physician on the senior staff.

Commander McMahon was president, in 1938, of the American Board of Internal Medicine and the American Therapeutic Society. He was at one time assistant resident at the Pottenger Sanatorium, Monrovia, Cal., and thereafter, senior instructor in medicine at St. Louis University.
